
Engineering Apprenticeship – Maintenance Technician

The Role

A fantastic apprenticeship opportunity has arisen for aspiring Engineers to join our apprenticeship scheme at the Port of Felixstowe and Harwich International Port.

Both ports are recruiting multiple apprentices across each site. In your first year, you will be based off-site, studying full-time at Colchester Institute, where you will be fully trained and prepared for your on-site placements going into years 2 and 3.

During the three-year apprenticeship agreement, the role will provide excellent opportunities to work on live projects and state of the art operational equipment as well as being introduced to the engineering requirements within Hutchison Ports UK.

Before you submit your application, please ensure that you state which site you will want to be based at; either Harwich International, the Port of Felixstowe or both, you will also need to be able to travel to Colchester Institute for the duration of your apprenticeship.
